

Canadian Truck Shortcut Clogs Michigan Roads

Traffic Adds To Jam At The Straits

LANSING — (AP) — Canadian trucks using Michigan as a handy shortcut are becoming an increasing headache as far as regulation is concerned, the state public service commission said today.

Trouble is, that most of the trucks operate between one point in Canada to another, only cutting through Michigan, and therefore are technically operating between two points in a foreign country.

Jurisdiction Questioned
The headache involves the question of just how much jurisdiction Michigan has over these trucks and how the commission can get them to abide by Michigan safety regulations, according to commission chairman John H. McCarthy.

The Canadian trucks also add to the congestion at the Straits of Mackinac ferry and contribute to the clogged traffic and the wear on Michigan highways, McCarthy said.

"In February, when traffic is generally light, there were 15 Canadian carriers waiting to get on the boat," a commission investigator reported after a spot check at the Straits. "There was a long line of vehicles and I had to wait an hour and a half for the next ferry."

No Safety Equipment
Most of the Canadian trucks, the commission found, enter Michigan near Ironwood in the Upper Peninsula. They follow US-2 down to the Straits, cross on the ferry and continue south to Port Huron or Detroit to cross back into Canada.

At present, more than 40 Canadian carriers, listing some 200 pieces of equipment, have filed with the commission for permission to operate through Michigan. Many of the carriers, the commission found, are large truck-trailers used to transport automobiles.

Enforcement of safety regulations is the biggest problem, McCarthy said, during the first four months of 1951, commission records showed, 32 Canadian carriers were cited for 55 violations.

Some of the carriers kept no log books or mileage records on which to base their fees to the Michigan commission. Other trucks were without license plates. Some drivers admitted driving up to 22 hours at a stretch without resting, contrary to Michigan regulations.

Many of the trucks, it was discovered, had no safety equipment such as flares or flags to protect the public in case of a breakdown.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Frederick Vanderbilt Field, millionaire leftist, was ordered committed to jail today for contempt of court in refusing to tell who posted $80,000 bail for four fugitive American Communist leaders.

Field was sentenced yesterday to 90 days.

Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan rejected a defense plea to continue the secretary of the Civil Rights Congress bail fund on parole until his appeal is heard this afternoon in New Haven, Conn.

Ryan issued his order shortly after it was announced that U. S. Court of Appeals Justice Thomas Swan would preside at an appeal hearing at 2 p. m. (EST) at the Yale law school.

Ryan adjudged Field in contempt yesterday for his repeated refusals to tell who contributed to the bail fund.

The four missing leaders, who jumped bail earlier this week, are the object of a nation-wide FBI hunt in which the public has been asked to join.

In refusing to continue Field on parole pending the appeal hearing, Ryan said that to do so would be to recognize that "a substantial question of law or fact existed in this case."

Field had been on parole since being judged in contempt yesterday.

Ryan said he had permitted Field freedom overnight on the theory that "a night's sober reflection might bring the desire on the part of this man to give the court the information that it seeks."

Ryan has held that identities of the bail contributors are needed to help trace the missing men.

Ryan imposed sentence yesterday on Field, 46-year-old great-grandson of the famed Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt, who founded a financial and social dynasty. The judge ordered Field paroled in custody of counsel pending the appeal deadline.

The maximum penalty for the contempt sentence is six months in prison and a $1,000 fine.

Field is secretary of the Civil Rights Congress bail fund. The fund posted $260,000 bond for 11 top American Red leaders convicted of conspiring to advocate the overthrow of the U. S. government by violence.

The Congress is listed as subversive by the U. S. Treasury general's office.

The bail contributors are needed to help trace the missing men.

Leader Of GOP In Minnesota Becomes Judge

Truman Appointment Springs Surprise

By EDWIN B. HAKINSON
WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman apparently sprang a surprise on Democrats and Republicans alike in selecting Republican Governor Luther Youngdahl of Minnesota for a federal district judgeship here.

The appointment was announced yesterday after Youngdahl, a GOP leader in the midwest, emerged from Mr. Truman's office with Democratic Senator Humphrey of Minnesota.

Giving Up Politics
Youngdahl said he had resigned from the Minnesota supreme court to run for governor and now wanted to step back to the bench from "the active political field."

He headed the Minnesota delegation to the last Republican presidential nominating convention.

He said he was making the decision and announcement of his new appointment now to give the public time to make their plans for his successor.

If Youngdahl's nomination is confirmed by the Senate he will fill the District of Columbia judgeship made vacant by the recent death of Judge T. Alan Goldsborough, a former Maryland representative in Congress.

A federal district judge is appointed for life and the salary is $15,000 a year. As governor, Youngdahl's salary recently was increased from $12,000 to $15,000 a year.

Youngdahl said he would not resign as governor until confirmed for the judgeship and even then not before Sept. 1.

He planned to fly back to Minnesota today.

Dazed Jap Soldiers Home 6 Years Late

By SHINOBU HIGASHI
TOKYO — (AP) — A marine transport plane today catapulted 19 bewildered, Rip Van Winkle Japanese soldiers from the middle of the Pacific war into post-war Japan.

Last Saturday they surrendered to the U. S. navy. They had held out on tiny Anatahan Island in the Marianas for nearly six years after the war ended. They had insisted the war still was going on.

All Look Glum
A six and a half hour trip from Guam brought the Japanese soldiers to Haneda airport outside Tokyo.

A battery of scrambling cameramen gave the 19 men a hectic welcome. In glum silence they stared at flashing light bulbs and grinding cameras.

All but two had their hair close cropped, in the style of the old Japanese Imperial army. They wore United States army boots and knaki trousers.

They wore Hawaiian Aloha shirts, ranging in hue from pure white to bright blue and yellow, tucked into their trousers.

Each man carried a large hand-woven net bag. Through the netting peeked rectangular boxes of duraluminum, presumably from a B-29 shot down on the island.

Relatives Ignored
One of them, a white-haired man, spoke in a broken voice into a microphone and told of their lives on the island.

The others huddled together in sheep-like silence. They seemed still constricted between the freedom of civilian life and the ingrained discipline of army life.

A number of relatives were at the airport, some crying and some smiling. Their frantic attempts to attract the notice of those in the Rip Van Winkle group failed to bring the Japanese soldiers out of their daze.

Spilled Explosive Is Death Menace At Hanson, Mass.

HANSON, Mass. — (AP) — A two-mile square section of this town of 2,500 persons was marked off today as being as dangerous as any war zone minefield—one misstep and B A N G !

Ordinance experts say the area contains at least traces of a high explosive which could be set off with only the slightest friction, such as the scuff of a shoe.

The explosive—classified as secret—was scattered along five rural roads last Monday by five teen aged youths who admitted stealing 10 bottles of it in crystal form from the National Fire-works Co.

They said they were in search of fireworks to set off on the holiday. Not finding any fire-crackers, they said, they took the bottles and then threw them from a speeding auto.

Experts said the explosive didn't go off when tossed out of the car because it was packed in alcohol. When dry, however, the crystals can set off an explosion.

The teen agers pointed out to state police the route taken when they threw the bottles out of their car.

It is that section—about five streets on which 40 families reside—that officials have marked off as dangerous to walk or drive through.

Iron Ore Tieup Gets Mediator

Luecke Tries To End Ishpeming Strike

ISHPEMING — (AP) — A federal mediator's first attempt to bring both sides together in the Marquette Range mine strike apparently has been rebuffed.

But John Luecke, federal representative of the U. S. Mediation Service from Escanaba, Mich., today expressed hope that he could arrange a meeting for tomorrow between representatives of the CIO United Steelworkers union and the Cleveland-Cliffs iron company, whose 3,000 mine workers have been on strike this week.

Both the company and union have refused to budge from their positions in the walkout, which started Monday after a worker, Jerry Westman, was dismissed for smoking in the Athens underground iron mine. The remainder of approximately 3,000 Cleveland-Cliffs miners at 12 other properties are idle in sympathy with the Athens strike.

Cleveland-Cliffs officials maintain that the miners should return to work before any negotiations can begin. However, the miners say they will not go back to work until a shift boss at the Athens mine, who found the miner smoking underground and suspended him, is "broken."

Truce Envoys Are Promised Safe Conduct

Allied Planes Avoid Road To Kaesong

(By The Associated Press)

All was in readiness today for secret talks Sunday which may put a stop to the bloody war in Korea. United Nations and Communist commanders assured each other safe passage to the no-man's-land city of Kaesong where preliminary cease-fire talks are to be held.

A lull full of tense expectation continued between the opposing armies across the charred and ruined Korean peninsula. But Allied planes bombed the enemy in the north, big navy guns pounded at enemy shore installations and troops were told that the fight was still on until the cease-fire is on paper.

Messages Exchanged
The opposing commanders carried on a final exchange of messages today preparing for the meeting in the ancient Korean capital. Kaesong is virtually astride the 38th parallel which divided North and South Korea.

It is 85 miles from the North Korean capital of Pyongyang, whence three Red military emissaries will come, and 35 miles northeast of the South Korean capital of Seoul, from where the three U. N. officers will travel.

The north-south road through deserted Kaesong—main route connecting Pyongyang with Seoul—is rutted and torn with bomb craters and is literally paved with four-pronged spikes to puncture tires.

The Reds, including a colonel, will travel in five jeeps and five trucks bearing white flags. Allied

Dare Proves Fatal At Shooting Gallery

PORT DOVER, Ont. — (AP) — George Gollan, 19-year-old shooting gallery attendant, held a rifle to his head last night and dared a group of boys visiting the amusement spot to pull the trigger.

Police said a 13-year-old Hamilton boy, apparently believing the gun was not loaded, finally stepped forward and pressed the trigger.

Gollan fell, a 22-caliber bullet in his brain. He died in the hospital three and a half hours later.

Gollan, a resident of River St. John, N. S., came to work here three weeks ago.

Price Control Now Top Political Issue For 1952 Elections

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Intervention by the Democratic national committee in the congressional fight over price controls has staked the issue firmly in the political arena.

And House Republicans indicated today they are willing to slug it out on that basis right up to the 1952 presidential election.

Truman Wants Support
William M. Boyle, jr., chairman of the Democratic national committee, entered the fight yesterday with a call to all committee members and state chairmen and vice chairmen to rally behind President Truman's campaign for a tighter rein on the nation's economy.

Boyle's telegram to the party leaders urged them to "seek action by mayors, other elected officials and civic leaders to support strong price control legislation without amendments or weakening exemptions." It added: "Your views and those of other community leaders will have great weight with your congressional delegation. Action is needed now as voting starts Monday in the House of representatives."

The House today continued debate on a bill to extend for one year the defense production act which provides wage, price, rent and other controls. The act, recently extended for one month, is due to expire July 31.

President Truman wants it strengthened. The Senate already has passed an eight-months extension which rejects the changes Mr. Truman proposed and waters down the powers he now has. The House appears to be in a similar mood.

Administration leaders hope Boyle's telegram will start a tide of sentiment for the kind of control law the President wants.

Rollback Ban Pushed
In mentioning price controls, Boyle obviously referred to a Senate ban on price rollbacks and a House drive not only to prohibit future rollbacks but to nullify one already in effect on beef prices.

Republican reaction to Boyle's move was keyed by Rep. Arends of Illinois, acting minority leader in the House.

"Plain politics," he told a reporter today. "That shows the politics that the administration has put into this issue but I did not think they would be so brazen about it. We are willing to fight it out on that basis if they want it that way."

Arends predicted heavy Republican support for pending amendments to ban rollbacks. He agreed with Rep. Wolcott of Michigan, senior G. O. P. member of the House Banking committee, who said that indirect controls would be adequate if properly administered.

Warn Against Using War As Excuse For Waste

Careful husbanding of human and natural resources so that America might have the strength needed to win in the long coming struggle with Communism was urged by speakers at the outdoor writers convention seminar at the Bonifas auditorium last night.

Speakers were: U. S. Senator Blair Moody and Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, Albert Day, Washington, D. C., chief of the Fish and Wildlife Service; Dr. Ira Gabrielson, Washington, conservation director of the Wildlife Management Institute; and Leonard Schwartz, conservation director of Illinois.

Long Struggle Seen

Jack Van Coevering, Detroit Free Press, served as moderator, and Lew Kiewer of the Toledo Blade presided in the absence of J. Hammond Erwin, president of OWAA, who became slightly ill yesterday.

"The fight against Communism is not over," Senator Moody declared. "There is great hope that the peace may be soon restored in Korea. This struggle has brought home to the men in the Kremlin the fact that the free peoples in the world are determined that aggression will not be allowed to succeed."

Sen. Moody said we cannot afford to let our resources be drained at a time when the very safety of our nation is at stake. The senator said it is also important at home that we win the fight against inflation. Runaway prices

Townsend Movement Still Growing, Says Its Originator, 84

DETROIT—(AP)—The Townsend plan movement is growing, not diminishing, its originator, Dr. Francis E. Townsend, 84, said here Monday.

He is attending the national convention of Townsend clubs. Approximately 5,000 delegates are expected.

The next election, Dr. Townsend asserted, will be swung by either party that will adopt the Townsend plan as a plank.

The plan calls for $200 a month pensions to persons over 60, with the funds to be raised from a two per cent tax on the nation's gross income.

Among the speakers scheduled for the meeting are former Senator Claude E. Pepper of Florida.

will greatly injure the consuming public, he said.

"Our free incentive system also can be burned out from within," Moody asserted, "if inflation is not stopped."

Governor Booms Bridge

Governor Williams urged outdoor writers to continue their crusade for the "prudent use of our natural resources." He advocated the wise use of our forests and water supply.

ENJOY BLANEY PARK

Members of the OWAA and their families took a sightseeing trip to Blaney Park yesterday and enjoyed a steak barbecue arranged for them by Joe Bachunas, operator of the Blaney and Grand Island resorts in the Upper Peninsula. Fishing, nature hikes and wildlife photography were highlights of the day's program of activities.

"We must also get it straight that any country is no stronger than the people who make it up," Governor Williams continued. "The mental and physical strength of our people must be renewed at intervals by communion with the outdoors."

The governor also expressed the hope that America will not be led into wasteful use of its natural resources in a hysteria of national defense. He said that this nation must be prepared for the long pull in the fight with Communism even though a truce should be called in Korea.

"We as a people must make up our minds that what we face is not a temporary thing," said Governor Williams. "It faces us for at least a generation."

The governor also invited the outdoor writers to join his administration in the fight to build a bridge across the Straits of Mackinac. OWAA delegates were delayed from six to 11 hours in coming northward to Escanaba last weekend.

Warns of War Waste

Schwartz urged the use of professional advice when efforts are made to tamper with natural resources. He said that the St. Lawrence seaway and other projects should be carefully judged on their merits, and pointed out there was much false information given out to support new proposals.

Schwartz told how the Illinois river was polluted by industries in the rush to produce materials in World War II. As a result, the river's fish life was destroyed. He cautioned against the misuse of natural resources in the present fight against Communism, and pointed to present dangers in this field. The budget for the U. S. department of interior, he said, calls for 60.2 per cent of the expenditures for reclamation and power projects, and only the remaining 39.8 for all the other agencies of that department.

He urged the outdoor writers to watch for the exploitation of soil, the unwise use of insecticides which can harm game and fish life, and the uncontrolled shooting of game to furnish food during the national emergency.

Day Somewhat Optimistic

Day sounded a more optimistic note on the wildlife situation. Although there are now 26 million Americans who take licenses for hunting and fishing, the game and fish supply is holding out reasonably well, he said.

The waterfowl situation is not so favorable, however, because of the drainage of marshes for agricultural, oil and industrial production. The nation's deer herds have increased in recent years because of the cutting of the forests, but in some states the oversupply of deer is becoming a problem because of the shortage of browse for the animals.

"Right here in Michigan, I would say there are more deer now than there were in the days of Columbus," Day said. The farm game situation is getting difficult because of the poaching of lands, Day pointed out. Careless and rudeness on the part of hunters has aroused the animosity of the farmers.

"The average individual has the responsibility of providing good hunting in this country," Day said. "It is up to him to see that good laws are enacted and it is up to him to see that these laws are observed and enforced."

Record Timber Sale Reported

$181,000 Total For Two U. S. Forests

Timber sold from Hiawatha and Marquette National Forests of the Upper Peninsula has reached an all time high, it was announced today by Forest Supervisor C. L. Harrison in Escanaba.

For the fiscal year ending June 30, twenty-two million board feet were marketed by the officers of the two National Forests whose headquarters is located in Escanaba. Of the twenty-two million feet sold, two and one-half million were for sawlogs, posts, and other miscellaneous products. In addition to the sales of timber, 27,000 Christmas trees were marketed.

The largest timber sale business was handled by the Raco District in Chippewa county where the total sales amounted to five and one-half million feet. Five million was sold at Moran, four and one-half million at Rapid River, three and one-half million at Munising, and two and one-half million at Manistique. The total value of all sales made on the two forests amounted to $181,000.

Three hundred and nine individual timber sales were made during the year varying in size from a few trees to one and one-half million feet. The smaller sales were for local personal use while the larger ones were to commercial operators supplying timber products for the general market.

Sales under $500 in value are made by direct negotiation while those in excess of that amount are sold under competitive sealed bids. The volume of timber cutting on the National Forest is governed by rates of growth so that perpetual timber supplies and production can be maintained.

Some of the timber operators securing larger sales during the year were Leo Gannon of Marquette; Harry Rath, Raco; Sawyer-Stoll Timber company, Escanaba; Charles Taylor, Rudyard; Bonifas Lumber company, Neebaw, Wis.; Arvid Nelson, Manistique; and Irwin and English, Rudyard.

Plan Fairbanks History Picnic

Part Of U. P. Region Meeting In Delta

A group of Fairbanks township residents, headed by Supervisor Howard Gierke, local chairman, are making plans for a picnic program at Fayette Sunday, Aug. 12, in connection with the second annual Upper Peninsula local history conference.

They are cooperating with the Delta County Historical Society, host to the conference that will bring visitors from state and county historical societies.

The conference program on Saturday, Aug. 11, will be held in Escanaba, with a banquet in the evening. On Sunday the visitors and residents and former residents of Fairbanks township will gather at noon at Fayette for the history picnic.

Supervisor Gierke and Ben Osdahl will be in charge of the grounds; John Geniesse is gathering the biographies of pioneer Fairbanks township families (those who came there prior to 1880); and Mrs. Grace Stern is assembling an exhibit of early pictures and other articles to display.

Descendants of Fairbanks early families are asked to contact Mr. Geniesse to provide family histories; and to contact Mrs. Stern if they have articles to exhibit.

Others assisting in arrangements for the picnic are Miss Adelle Elliott, Harry Greene of Garden, former Fairbanks resident, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Laux.

The group met recently at the town hall with officers of the Delta County Historical Society to plan for the event. A second meeting will be held in late July or early August.

Blood Donors Needed Next Week For Restocking Plasma Supply

An appeal for blood donors to provide plasma and other blood derivatives for the needs of Delta county residents in the months ahead has been issued by the Red Cross and the Delta county blood plasmas procurement committee.

The blood collection unit will be in Escanaba next Wednesday and Thursday and in Rapid River next Friday. Residents of these communities and nearby areas are urged to register and to donate blood. The process is painless and requires only a brief period of time.

Eventually it will be possible to discontinue the periodic blood collection campaigns in Escanaba but this cannot be done until the blood bank at St. Francis hospital is created and put into operation. Work is progressing on this program now. In the meantime the only assurance that blood plasmas and other blood derivatives for local needs will be available is to meet the quotas of blood collections set for the county.

When the St. Francis hospital blood bank is established, sufficient quantities of blood for plasma purposes will be available through the replacement collections. In addition whole blood will be available in all types to meet local needs.

The blood collection program in Michigan, conducted by the Red Cross and the state department of health, has been a major factor in the saving of many lives. The program cannot operate successfully without the cooperation of the public. The plasma program requires blood and it can be secured only by means of volunteers.

Plan to register for the blood program and keep the appointment assigned to you.

Plenty Of Firecrackers On Fourth Of July

The Fourth of July holiday, 1951, has passed into history and fortunately the celebration in Escanaba did not develop any serious injuries despite heavy auto traffic and a rash of firecracker explosions.

It is difficult to believe that the sale of firecrackers is illegal in Michigan in view of the widespread use of these finger smashers over the July 4 holiday. An unidentified boy was treated at St. Francis hospital for finger wounds sustained when a firecracker exploded in his hand, but he was travelling through Escanaba at the time of the mishap. If there were any other serious mishaps as a result of exploding firecrackers here, they were not reported to local authorities.

Nevertheless, the number of firecrackers and Roman candles in the city was greater this year than at any time in recent years. The thousands of persons who visited Ludington Park throughout the day Wednesday and particularly Wednesday night heard a cannonading of terrific volume that went on uninterrupted hour after hour. It was a miracle, nothing less, that some serious injuries did not result.

The holiday is over and very likely the supply of firecrackers is gone, or at least we can hope so. But the impunity with which the law was ignored this year may bring even greater cannonading next July 4.

Better Chickens Through Teamwork

Proof of what can be accomplished when industry, science and agriculture work together to improve a food-producing animal is found in the National Chicken-of-Tomorrow contests. The winner of this year's contest, which was held recently on the University of Arkansas campus, received a prize of $5,000.

Back in 1945 the poultry research director of a food chain* suggested to poultrymen that something be done to develop in chickens the same outstanding meat qualities that had been bred into broad-breasted turkeys. A meeting was called of every major poultry organization and the Department of Agriculture. A committee was formed and rules and procedures set up.

The idea was to develop chickens that would grow faster on less feed and, at the same time, put more meat on breasts, drumsticks, thighs and the over-all skeletal frame. When the program started, the accepted national feed-conversion ratio was four pounds of feed to one pound of chicken. Now the standard ratio is three pounds of feed to one pound of chicken—a reduction of 25 per cent in feed costs alone. Moreover, the fowl reaches the desired marketing weight at an earlier age.

The advantages of this to the producer are evident. And the consumer gains too—most of the chickens we buy are younger and more tender than they were a few years ago. It is estimated that 425,000,000 of the 625,000,000 chickens produced for commercial meat purposes last year were descendants of Chicken-of-Tomorrow stock. In sum, the Chicken-of-Tomorrow is here today!

Questions and Answers

Q—For how long have there been war fleets?

A—Two thousand years before Christ, the Egyptians had a war fleet of some 400 ships. But Crete was carrying on commerce with Egypt centuries before that. Her warships in the Mediterranean are the earliest on record, and Crete is regarded as the world's first great sea power.

Q—Does the National Guard antedate the Army?

A—Actually the Guard antedates the Army and the Nation itself, tracing its beginning to the volunteer militia companies of the 17th century. Following the Civil War, the organized militia became generally known as the National Guard and this designation was officially adopted in 1903.

Q—Which has the larger seating capacity the Cleveland or the Yankee Stadium?

A—Cleveland Municipal Stadium has 77,700 seats; Yankee Stadium has 67,000.

Poor Penny

By Gordon Martin

There was once a time when pennies were considered coins to prize, and were treasured to be hoarded in the light of youthful eyes. Then an ordinary copper was the key to all delights, in the form of sweets and candy craved by ever-hungry sprites. But today, instead of pennies, kids would hit you up for dimes, which is just another product of inflationary times.

Sure it takes a lot of pennies, Sister tells you every day, if a growing little girl expects to pay her costly way. What with all the things she has to buy, like school supplies and such—well you've got to face it, Daddy, that a penny isn't much. Now it's nickels, dimes and quarters, and it soon will be a buck—don't you know about inflation and the way we're being stuck?

Yes, too well you know the story and you wish it weren't so, for the soaring cost of living sure diminishes your dough. Why, a one-cent piece is just a coin to pay a tax on sales, or to put in parking meters or perhaps in penny races. What they've done to all the coppers can be classed among the crimes, and you hope they will return someday to take the place of dimes.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—In the middle of last week's hectic battle over price controls, President Truman called Leo De Orsay, attorney for radio star Arthur Godfrey, and begged him to beg Godfrey to go on the radio and arouse the public for price controls.

This personal appeal by a pathetic president, battling almost alone, illustrates the greatest loss Truman has suffered—the inability to mobilize public opinion. And realizing this loss, he appealed to a radio personality to mobilize opinion for him.

It also illustrates the greatest asset Franklin Roosevelt had—the ability to appeal over the heads of congressmen to the public. Congress never liked Franklin Roosevelt. Most of them did not agree with his policies. But they feared him because they knew that, with the voters, he was stronger than they.

Today just the opposite is true, and members of congress whose specialty is keeping their ears to the ground know it. They know that the president has waged so many puny, personal feuds, called so many people names, tolerated such laxness among the cronies around him that his ammunition is spent.

They know that having fired his big shells at Paul Hume, the music critic, and at Bernie Baruch, and the marine corps, the president has nothing but bird-shot left to fire at senators who fail to support him on price controls. They know that having called Senator Fulbright "asinine" when he probed RFC scandals, and having tolerated mink coats and deep freezes in his own official family, the president can call the congressmen no names that will hurt them with the voters when they vote against him.

They also know, in their hearts, that the president is right about price controls. They know that inflation can be the first step toward depression. But they also know that Washington is more crowded with lobbyists than at anytime in years; and it is the big cattle, cotton and real-estate groups that contribute heaviest to their campaigns. The housewife doesn't contribute. Sometimes she doesn't even vote.

Those are some of the reasons why the president's own senate leader, Ernest McFarland of Arizona voted against him; why Mike Monroney, the new senator from Oklahoma, who had the courage to champion the old OPA; why Wyoming's Joe O'Mahoney, supposedly an administration leader—all turned their back on Harry Truman. And Harry Truman, unable to rally the people, but still courageously battling, appealed to Arthur Godfrey to come to his aid.

MORE KICKBACKS

Three congressmen have been caught by this column accepting "kickbacks" from their employees. Two were brought to trial and found guilty—J. Parnell Thomas of New Jersey and Walter Brehm of Ohio, both Republicans. However, the justice department has done nothing about the third, Congressman Victor Wickersham of Oklahoma. He is a Democrat.

Meanwhile, this column regrets to report another kickback scandal, though no congressmen are involved. It is just as much against the law for a government contractor to take "kickbacks" and swear out false payrolls, as it is for congressmen. Yet this is what Maultsby and Sutton, Inc., of Pensacola, Fla., has been doing.

The firm has been repairing the lighting at the Pensacola naval air station. Since this is a government contract, the firm is supposed to comply with the Davis-Bacon Act which sets minimum labor standards for government projects, and Maultsby and Sutton have sworn out affidavits that they are paying full, legal wages.

Yet the sworn payrolls list some employees as receiving more money than they were actually paid. For example, George B. Crain, a journeyman, was listed on the payroll at a salary of $2.00 per hour. Yet all he received in his pay envelope was $1.50 per hour. Differences such as this would make Maultsby and Sutton able to submit lower bids than their competitors.

Crain has sworn out an affidavit against Maultsby and Sutton, formally charging that he "did receive $1.50 per hour and at no time have I received $2.00 per hour as stated on the payrolls which I have examined."

PREVIOUS ERROR

This isn't the first time Maultsby and Sutton have been careless about the Davis-Bacon Act. In 1949, the firm was charged by the navy with "certain irregularities," but finally excused because the navy "felt at that time that there might be some excuse for their apparent disregard of the provisions of the law, since this was believed to be their first government formal contract and they were inexperienced in the administration of such matters."

So reported George Robinson, officer in charge of construction at Pensacola. "As a result of this previous experience," Robinson added, "the officer in charge of construction issued instructions to assure that in the event Maultsby and Sutton were low bidders in any future work that they be fully informed of their responsibilities in connection with the Davis-Bacon Act."

As a result, Maultsby personally was reminded of his previous violations and was warned to comply with the law, specifically the wage and hour provisions, before his firm was awarded its present navy contract.

"Mr. Maultsby assured that he would abide by the requirements, maintain records in proper order and submit all necessary reports and data promptly," Robinson reported to the navy department in Washington.

If You're Planning Vacation Trip, Why Not Consider Flight To Venus?

COMING IN FOR A VISIT TO VENUS, the space ship noses down toward a landing, which is the pilot's job. Those two characters up front are members of the Venus Chamber of Commerce, South Nightmare branch office.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—OK,

bored citizens, dig out that atmosphere helmet. Unpack your de-gravity suit. We're off on another trip into space, this time to Venus.

Our navigator for this meteor-dodging junket is a nice looking young man named John M. Wuerth. He has the imposing title of project engineer in the Electromechanical Department in North American's Aerophysics Laboratory in California, where they're busily developing guided missiles.

As North American's plant magazine, Skyline, explains, its Venus vacation is the result of spare knowledge which Wuerth happened to have left over from his guided missile studies.

Now stick with this, kid. Remember you're a pioneer.

For reasons which will be explained more or less lucidly in the next paragraph or so, we take off from earth at six o'clock in the evening at some place on the equator. The trip, if all goes well, takes 146 days.

Then, Wuerth explains:

"We will climb vertically in a rocket ship at an acceleration of 2Gs, or two times gravity, for 13 minutes. Our space traveler will be comfortable enough under this acceleration; pilots often withstand 2Gs and more. At the end of 13 minutes we will have reached 25,600 miles per hour, which is greater than the velocity needed to keep from falling back to the Earth. At this point power will be cut off and we will spend the rest of the trip coasting in an orbit of our own until we land on Venus."

What could be simpler? But in case you're confused, here's what happens:

Wuerth says it's like jumping off the back of a speeding train. The Earth is the train speeding in its orbit. The back happens to be the spot of departure on the equator at six p. m. Our departure speed is enough to get us away from Earth's pull of gravity, but we still have enough backward speed to keep us going in the general direction of the Earth in space, but in a decreasing arc.

As soon as we get out of the pull of the Earth, we get in the

So They Say

Unlike old soldiers who never die, unfortunately these men (baseball players Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Walter Johnson) did, but American sportsmanship will never let their memory fade away.—Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

To those in the world outside, the American is a person blessed by God. He can greet the sunrise without fear that before the sun sets he will be seized in the grasp of merciless tyranny.—Francis P. Matthews, secretary of the Navy.

Peron could exist without anyone else. He is God for us, so much so we cannot conceive heaven without Peron. He is sun, our air, our water, our life. There can only be one Peron.—Senora Eva Peron.

Five minutes of honest relaxation playing with a kitten and a piece of string can be a better therapy than a frantic trip around the world.—Dr. James Tucker Fisher, psychiatrist.

If world government were to be only a mechanical utilitarianism it would end by becoming one more legal automatism... added to so many others which threaten to stifle the nations and to reduce man to a mere inert instrument.—Pope Pius XII.

Whatever theoretical merit there may be to the argument that there is a "right" to rebellion against dictatorial governments is without force where the existing structure of the government provides for peaceful and orderly change.—Fred M. Vinson, chief justice of Supreme Court pull of the sun. Actually we're moving backward through space at 84,600 miles an hour. But as we're curving toward the sun, we're closing in on Venus moving in its orbit, which is inside that of the Earth's. Get the picture? Maybe Wuerth's explanation can clear it up.

"The Earth travels around the Sun like a ball on the end of a string. The centrifugal force resulting from the Earth's motion balances the Sun's attraction, and keeps the Earth from moving closer to the Sun. To move in toward the orbit of Venus, we must reduce the centrifugal force, by making the rocket ship move slower than the Earth. The rocket ship must take off backward along the Earth's orbit to go slower than the Earth and drift in toward Venus."

Now, that brings daylight, right?

Wuerth continues our voyage:

"What are our chances of colliding with a meteorite on the way to Venus? The chances of danger from this source are less than your chances of having an automobile accident if you spent the 146 days driving around the country."

"It can easily be shown that the only critical item in getting on the proper orbit to Venus is the speed at the instant of power cut-off. An accelerometer, an instrument for measuring the rate of change of velocity, seems to be the best for this job. And with a .1 per cent error accelerometer, now commercially available, it would cause the space ship to miss Venus by almost a million miles. An improvement of the accelerometer to .0015 per cent error would assure meeting Venus at the end of 146 days."

Then you put the key questions to Wuerth. You will meet Venus traveling at about 5400 miles an hour. How can you land safely? And, of course, how do you get back?

"That," he says, "is the job for the pilot. I'm just the navigator."

Good Evening ...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

EDGE OF DESTRUCTION—You are never completely safe while driving in your automobile. The threat of death and injury is there whether you go on a long vacation trip or for a Sunday afternoon ride.

In today's high speed highway traffic the motorist is only a few seconds and a few inches from destruction.

People who would tremble at driving 60 miles an hour in an automobile whose wheels were only a foot from the edge of a precipice, laugh while their auto skirts traffic and the highway centerline with only a foot of space to spare.

Those who would scream in fright if a train came at them headon will joke as they swing in and out of a line of traffic at a speed of 70 and 80 miles an hour.

There appears to be no way to impress motorists with the extreme danger encountered on the highway.

THE OTHER FELLOW—Recitation of statistics only serve to bore the average auto driver. That the U. S. each year has about 9,000 fatal traffic accidents on its highways is impressive but meaningless.

It is meaningless because every driver believes, in his heart, the other fellow to be at fault.

Traffic law enforcement officers get the old argument every time there is an accident. Each driver is in the right, neither was at fault, the accident "just happened."

One of the fundamental needs in any campaign to halt slaughter on the highways is to arouse the individual to be a better and a safer driver.

TELLING THE STORY—How to impress the individual with his responsibility as a motorist is one of the problems of traffic safety education.

Yet Michigan law places all of the responsibility for traffic accidents upon the individual driver.

There is no top speed limit established in the state. The motorist can go as fast as he wants to so long as he has control of his car, can stop without colliding with another object, and "can stop in the assured clear distance ahead."

In business and residential districts (unless otherwise marked by the municipality) the state established a speed limit of 25 miles an hour.

Most of the deaths occur, however, on the "open" highway where the individual driver is on his own and must exercise good judgment in being able to stop in "the assured clear distance ahead."

There is no way to adequately tell the traffic safety story by citing traffic laws. Michigan law presumes that all drivers have maturity of judgment and will exercise it. The traffic death toll proves that many of them are apparently incapable of good judgment.

LAW ENFORCEMENT—Obviously the traffic safety engineers do not want to unnecessarily penalize the good driver by surrounding him with restrictive traffic laws.

There are enough laws on the books now. Vigorous enforcement, combining careful investigation and (if the facts warrant) vigorous prosecution, would weed out most of the bad drivers in a short time.

There are six ways bad drivers can lose their operator's license and be ruled off the highways:

1—Ignoring traffic tickets; 2—Making untrue statements in obtaining a license; 3—Drunk driving conviction; 4—Leaving the accident scene where someone is injured or killed; 5—Conviction of manslaughter or other felony under the state motor vehicle law; 6—Conviction or forfeiture of bail on three reckless driving charges in a period of 12 months.

THE LAST APPEAL—Safe driving is a good habit, reckless driving can kill you. Speed is a killer. If your car is traveling 60 miles an hour, you are going 106 feet per second.

If you had to stop suddenly it would take three-quarters of a second to apply the brakes—and in that time you would have gone an additional 66 feet. If your brakes are in excellent condition you could stop (including the reaction time) in about 226 feet after the first warning.

Only bad drivers hurry and take chances.

Answer: The word sic, usually in parentheses—(sic), is Latin for "thus." It is used to indicate that a word or figure in the original manuscript has been followed exactly, even though it may be an error or a misspelling, as, "He is employed as a rodeo (sic) announcer." Or, "In 1942 (sic) Columbus discovered America." Sic is pronounced exactly like the word "sick." Omaha: What is the longest word in the English language?—A. W.

Answer: This is the longest word I have found in any of my dictionaries. I'll divide it in syllables so that it will be easier for the Linotype operator to set: Pneumono-nul-tri-mi-cro-scap-to-sil-i-co-vol-ca-no-ko-ni-o-sis. It is a medical term designating a form of respiratory disease occurring among miners and caused by inhaling fine silicate or quartz dust.

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

With the baseball season at the half-way mark, football is already edging into the sports picture. It won't be long before the Upper Peninsula all-star game is held at Negaunee. And in just about a month the Green Bay Packers are scheduled for an intra-squad game at Duluth, Minn. This game, on Aug. 10, is being billed as the "Fish Bowl" fray. It will be the Packers' first visit to Duluth in over a quarter of a century.

Speaking of the Packers, this will be Tony Canadeo's 10th season with the Green Bay club. The veteran is slated to return to his left halfback slot this fall. Last year he was forced to take over the fullback chores because of injuries among the other backs. And this will be Coach Gene Ronzani's second term as head coach. Also, Dick Fowler, Northwestern's passing quarterback, is likely to see considerable action for the Bears. He completed 61 aeriels for the Wildcats last season to break a record set by Otto Graham in 1942.

Up in Iron River on the Fourth, we did a little snooping around in American Legion Junior baseball circles. Folks up that way feel that Iron River has the stuff to go all the way in the Upper Peninsula tournament this year. The team has a fine brother battery in Roland and Gary Pearson. Roland is a sharp southpaw who tossed the Iron River team to the district championship last season. He performed well against the Detroit all-star team at Kingsford recently, working in a relief role.

We also checked again on Swede Anderson's record with the Gastra team in the Twin State league. Still undefeated, Swede now has 108 strikeouts in six games.

To make room for young Russ Hiltonen, the Oshkosh Giants sent one of their hurlers to Big Stone Gap, Va., where Dick Lough of Escanaba plays with the New York Giants farm club team. Oshkosh, by the way, is in third place, six games out, in the Wisconsin State league.

Brazeau Will Pitch To Panthers Today

Manager Phil Brazeau will take the mound this afternoon as the Bears face the Inkster Panthers in an exhibition game at 5:30 at the city diamond.

A former NWM league hurler who has been active in baseball for many years, Brazeau has been working out regularly for the exhibition assignment. His arm is still in good shape, he says.

A new pitcher will also be uncovered by the Bears today. He is Lefty Magnuson, strikeout king of the Marquette area. A fast lefthander, Magnuson plans to move to Escanaba to take employment. Remainder of the Bear regular lineup will be intact.

LIONS SIGN CENTER

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions of the National pro football league announced yesterday the signing of center La Vern Torgeson, 21, of Washington State, and halfback Tom Worthington, 26, of Northwestern.

THE INKSTER PANTHERS will invade Escanaba's city ball diamond this afternoon for a 5:30 engagement with the Bears of the Tri-County circuit. A traveling squad from Inkster, just out of Detroit, the Panthers number among their players some good college athletes. The team is rated a fast and clever crew with a good road record. It is the first traveling team to appear here this season and the first colored team to perform here in the past two years.

Karkkainen Is Eligible To Play In Tri-County's Second Half Schedule

Mel Karkkainen, young right-handed fireballer who joined the Escanaba Bears from South Range last week, was granted eligibility to play the Tri-County league second half schedule of games at a protest meeting in Bark River last night.

The board of directors voted on Karkkainen's eligibility after the league protest board upheld Hermansville's protest of the game in which he appeared for the first time on the Escanaba mound last Sunday. The Bears won the game 6-1.

The three-man protest board voted unanimously to forfeit the game to Hermansville, quoting a section of the league by-laws which requires a new player to sit two weeks on the bench before he is eligible to compete.

Drop To Second

The reversal of the Hermansville game result drops the Bears out of a first place tie with Bark River at the head of the league. Bark River has an 8-1 record while the Bears now have seven wins, two losses.

The league managers, all present except Wilson, were called on to decide whether Karkkainen would be eligible to play the remainder of the Tri-County schedule. They voted 6 to 2 in favor of his eligibility.

That means the young Copper Country ace will make his first league start in the afternoon game. He whiffed 13 batsmen and laced out a pair of triples at the plate to lead his mates to an 8-3 win over Rotary.

One-Hitter

Gary Palar twirled a one-hitter for St. Joe in the afternoon game. He whiffed 13 batsmen and laced out a pair of triples at the plate to lead his mates to an 8-3 win over Rotary.

In spite of Palar's performance, Lawrence Erickson's crew made a game of it until the last inning when three St. Joe runners crossed the plate to ice the victory. Following are the batting leaders and pitchers records:

Al Erickson, 599, R. Erickson, 540; C. McCarthy, 450; G. Palar, 410; D. Lewis, 382; B. Anderson, 372; T. Kutches, 367; B. Carlson, 361; Merenger, 333; Hamilton, 333; B. Lancour, 333; G. Hirm, 315.

Pitchers: Marenker, 1 0; Schwabach, 2 0; Stropich, 2 0; Palar, 3 1; McCarthy, 2 2; Flath, 1 2.

Was On Roster

Escanaba representatives at the meeting pointed out that there was no intent to violate the league by-laws by using Karkkainen last Sunday in the final game of the first half. One of the league rules stipulates that a player must appear in a first half game in order to be eligible to play any

Yesterday's Stars

Pitching, Freddie Hutchinson, Tigers—blanked Chicago White Sox, 8-0, with five hits for their first shutout of the season.

eight inning, the Brooks clawed back with three more and went on to win, 8-4. It was Newcombe's 12th victory, a seven-hitter in which he struck out eight to boost his major league leading total to 83.

Yanks In First
If Hodges and the Dodgers are running away from the National field, the American four-way race can provide any missing thrills.

New York climbed back into first place, a half game ahead of Chicago, by bopping Washington, 8-2, in a night game after Chicago had been shut out for the first time, 8-0, by Detroit's Freddie Hutchinson.

Boston closed in on the leaders by manhandling Philadelphia, 8-3, with Ted Williams and Bobby Doerr hitting homers to back up Walt Masterson's brilliant relief pitching. The Red Sox are only two games back and Cleveland, rained out of its night game at St. Louis, is but 4½ away.

time during the second half.

Karkkainen was listed on the Escanaba roster submitted to Commissioner Russ Simmons several weeks ago. The young pitcher was due to move to Escanaba two weeks ago to take a job with Harnischfeger, but he was married in the meantime and postponed the move until last Friday.

The Bear spokesmen, Manager Phil Brazeau and Director Ken Gundersen, also pointed out that the eBears lost their star chucker, Russ Hiltonen, to the major league system and were trying to replace him. There was no intent to "load up" or strengthen the team with an addition player, they explained.

Plan All-Star Game

The league managers also voted that a rained out game between Perronville and Wallace should be made up in the second half at Perronville. The teams failed to meet on two occasions in the first half, one being rained out and the second missing because Wallace became involved in a 12-inning match with Park River on the afternoon of the scheduled game at Perronville.

Plans were made for a league-all-star game next Thursday night under the lights at Stephenson.

Tigers Slip Sox First Shutout

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers gained a lot of prestige in the baseball world yesterday in white-washing the Chicago White Sox out of the American league leadership, 8-0, but they'd gladly trade it all for a victory tonight.

The always tough Cleveland Indians are in town for a three-game series.

There never has been any love lost between the two teams and everyone of the Tigers from Manager Red Rolfe down is hot under the collar over ten straight losses to the Indians this year.

Costly Losses
Those setbacks are the big reason the Tigers are in the second division.

They'll call on little Teddy Gray to put the hex on the Indians tonight while Cleveland will lead with Bob Feller (11-2) in the open; before an anticipated crowd of 45,000.

Gray (3-8) has found the going rough all year, especially in the late innings, but the Detroiters are hopeful he will hit his stride tonight.

The Tigers were still gleeful about their feat of taking the rubber game of a three-game series from Paul Richard's White Sox yesterday.

They did it on the strength of a nifty five-hit shutout by Freddy Hutchinson, combined with a Tiger attack that saw seven runs scamper home in the third inning.

First Sox Shutout

Hutchinson faced only 34 men as he notched his first shutout of the year and his seventh win. Incidentally, it was the first time the Chicagoans had been blanked. They never had a chance against Hutch's wide curve and slow breaking stuff.

He retired the Chicagoans in 1-2-3 order in four innings, with only one man getting to third, that was Gus Niarhos who got on in the third when Johnny Lipon booted his grounder. A hit and a sacrifice moved him to third, but that was as close as Niarhos or any Chicagoan got to home plate.

Lou Kretlow was the victim of the Tiger uprising. He gave up one run in the first inning, but the roof caved in on him and reliever Harry Dorish in the third.

Four hits, four walks, an error and a passed ball figured in the seven run explosion—one of the biggest innings the Tigers have had to date.

City Vacation Plan Unchanged

Escanaba Has Most Liberal Now

The Escanaba city council Thursday night awarded a contract to Employers Mutual for providing fleet insurance for city vehicles. The bid price was $2,160.42. A bid of $2,203.19 was received from Everett Cole.

The Lake Shore Engineering company was low bidder on a project to provide cyclone fencing for the city asphalt and gas plants and for an electric substation. The low bid price was $4,657.12. Bids also were received from Champion, Inc., of $4,950.48 and the Delta Hardware of $4,975.

The council took no action on a proposal for three weeks vacation for city employees of 15 years service. A report from the Michigan Municipal League revealed that Escanaba now has the most liberal vacation schedule in the state.

A letter of appreciation for city services in the VFW state convention was received from the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The council approved subcontracts for the city water plant as follows: Cloverland Construction company, Iron River, electrical work; Erling Amtnen, Escanaba, masonry; Hoffer Glass company, Wausau, glass installations, and Sabuco Tile company, Escanaba, tile installations.

British Atomic Boss Quits, Displeased By Red Tape Drawbacks

LONDON — (AP) — Britain's atom boss, Lord Portal, quit yesterday and one of the country's top scientists charged the labor government had let its atomic bomb program fall far behind Russia's.

Lord Cherwell, wartime scientific adviser to Winston Churchill, told the House of Lords that Portal, former head of the Royal Air Force, quit as controller of the Atomic Energy program because he was displeased by red tape and lack of progress.

Cremation Of Woman Mystifies Police At St. Petersburg, Fla.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP)—Local authorities are hoping FBI experts can dig up a hidden clue to the mysterious cremation death of Mrs. Mary Hardy Reeser in her apartment early this week.

Ashes of the body and other articles have been sent to Washington for FBI examination.

St. Petersburg police were pretty much at a dead end on how the 67-year-old clubwoman could have been burned so thoroughly with little damage to the room in which her body was found.

Only a shriveled skull, a fragment of backbone and the left foot were left when the body was found Monday morning. Yet the flames were out, and except for the body the only thing in the room which showed signs of fire was the chair in which Mrs. Reeser apparently had been sitting. It was burned to the springs.

Ship Explosion Kills 27 German Children

BERLIN —(AP)— East German authorities today announced they have found the bodies of two more children drowned in the explosion of a small ship yesterday on the Spree river, raising the official death toll to 27.

East Berlin people's police at the same time ordered the seizure of all gasoline-engines and an inspection of all other river craft in the Soviet sector. The police blamed the tragedy on a faulty gasoline engine which caught fire.

Jackson Marks GOP Birthday

Republican Party 97 Years Old

JACKSON, Mich. — (AP) — The Grand Old Party will be 97 years old today and there will be a celebration here where the party reportedly was born.

Other cities in other states also claim the birthplace honors, but Michigan Republicans will join with Jackson citizens to celebrate the anniversary here throughout the day.

The founding of the party "under the oaks" at Jackson on July 6, 1854, will be reenacted in the Cascades park by a cast of Jackson citizens dressed in costumes of that day, using relics of the initial convention and a script based upon records of that event.

The reenactment will take place in the evening accompanied by an address by U. S. Senator Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.), who will speak over a nationwide radio network.

With the party still pushing up candidates for the 1952 campaigns, the Jackson "Founders' Day" ceremonies will offer an occasion for summertime conferences among party leaders.

The Republican state central committee will meet in the afternoon, followed by a reception for party faithful.

Iran Rejects Court Decision To Settle Oil Field Dispute

TEHRAN, Iran — (AP)—A British embassy spokesman said today withdrawal of British technicians from Iranian oil fields would be "inevitable" if Iran refuses to comply with the Hague court's recommendation that she suspend her nationalization program pending negotiations.

British Ambassador Sir Francis Shepherd is expected to see Iran's Foreign Minister Bager Kazemi tomorrow to present the names of two British representatives to the joint conciliation board suggested by the international court.

The Iranians yesterday quickly rejected the court's decision recommending agreement by Britain and Iran on an item plan for keeping this country's oil flowing.

West Revives Trade Talks With Russia After 2-Year Lapse

BERLIN —(AP)—Russian negotiators will meet again Monday with representatives of the Western Powers, continuing trade talks which reopened yesterday after a two-year lapse.

The sessions on West Berlin commerce began in an atmosphere of cordiality which surprised western observers. The Russians agreed in a surprise announcement Wednesday to resume the trade talks which were broken off shortly after the end of the Berlin blockade in 1949.

The West is trying to get written Russian guarantees minimizing interference with West Berlin trade through the Soviet zone to West Germany. Russia is said to be looking for ways to stop smuggling of scarce raw materials from her zone to West Berlin factories.

THOSE IN UNIFORM

WITH X CORPS, US ARMY IN KOREA—Pfc. John E. Narkooli, 27, of Rock, is fighting with the 196th Field Artillery Battalion in the "biggest artillery shoot" in the history of warfare in the Far East.

The artillery unit, a Tennessee National Guard battalion, played a key role in smashing the May Red offensive, greatest unleashed in this war, hurling back massed enemy forces in the X Corps sector with staggering losses.

Narkooli, a cannoneer in a 155-mm howitzer section of "Able" Battery, was rushed to this Oriental theater of war with the 196th in January. A reservist, he was called to active duty late last year.

As a civilian, Narkooli was employed as a carpenter in Rock, where he graduated from high school in 1941. He earlier served in the Army in 1948-49.

Traffic Concessions Canceled On Russian Goods Shipped To U. S.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The United States has given notice to Russia and its major satellites it is cancelling all American tariff concessions on goods they ship to this country.

The state department disclosed the action today.

President Truman took the step at the direction of congress, which has sought to deprive Communist areas of all American trade benefits.

The state department said goods from Russia, Roumania, Bulgaria, Hungary, and Poland will be affected once the necessary time for notification elapses.

Exports from Communist Czechoslovakia, Red China, eastern Germany, eastern Berlin, also will be hit along with goods that might be shipped from Albania, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, any parts of Korea and Indo-China under Communist control, the Kurile Islands, outer Mongolia, South Sakhalin island and Tanna Tuba.

Governor Won't Give Flag To Michigan GIs So Free Press Does

DETROIT—(AP) — A newspaper stepped in today to do what three Michigan GIs in Japan said their state would not do.

The soldiers wrote that after long arguments over the merits of their respective states, GIs from Oklahoma and New Jersey wrote to their governors and were given official state flags. A similar letter to Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams was turned over to the state's property manager, who wrote back that Michigan flags would have to be bought, the soldiers said.

Word of Michigan's response "has reached the other men and has made us a laughing stock," they wrote.

So the Detroit Free Press announced today it is sending the three GIs a Michigan flag—free —"to restore their faith in their native state."

Grand Rapids Broker Jailed

Financier Confesses Misusing $649,110

GRAND RAPIDS — (AP)—Howell H. Ridley, a financier who lived in a grand manner for 17 years, today was under prison sentences totaling nine years.

The 53-year-old, distinguished-looking stock broker had pleaded guilty to borrowing $649,110 on more than $1,000,000 in securities entrusted to him.

In federal district court yesterday, Judge Raymond W. Starr sentenced Ridley to one and one-half years each on six counts of mishandling securities. The sentences are to run consecutively.

Through his financial manipulations, Ridley lived in style even during the depths of the depression years. All that he has left, he said, are two new cars and a 20-acre estate.

Ridley was prominent in society here. At the Grand Rapids country club, he was affectionately known as "Boots."

At the time his manipulations were uncovered early this year, Ridley was a vice-president of a national brokerage house. His legitimate income was estimated at about $30,000 a year.

planes have been ordered to stay away from the route starting tomorrow. U. N. Commander Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway assured the Communists their convoy "will be immune from attack by my forces."

May Use Helicopter

Reliable sources said Ridgway had appointed three colonels—a marine, an airman and a South Korean—to represent him. Depending on the weather, they will either fly to Kaesong in a helicopter or travel up the road by jeep from Seoul.

As these elaborate last-minute details were being worked out, a lone Communist plane dropped a few small bombs on Allied positions about 30 miles from Kaesong. U. N. planes were back in the air after flying 470 bombing, rocketing and strafing missions yesterday.

Naval bombardment of the Red eastern port of Wonsan went into its 141st day, with the guns of the U. S. destroyers Blue and Evans putting the quietus on shore batteries in a 75-minute artillery duel.
